

The question mark illustrates a request to trade or forfeit days between parents. An exclamation mark shows a scheduling conflict.

The shared family Calendar was the inspiration for the OurFamilyWizard® website.

Our calendar allows families to quickly setup parenting plans, activities and holidays that extend up to three years into the future.

Activities can show at a glance who is picking up and who is dropping off, and which parent and which child(ren) the event is for. Icons can be used to identify the activity.

The OurFamilyWizard® website has its own private Message Board. This means:

- No spam
- No lost messages
- Instantaneous message delivery
- Family only content
- Most important, you protect your children from accidentally viewing adult oriented material.

The family Journal functions as a virtual diary. You can keep records for yourself or any other member of your family. The Journal is color coded for each family member.

When you are ready to print the Journal, select the date range and the family members you want included in the printout. A cleanly fomatted printable version will be created for you.

Accurate records have never been so easy to keep and share. All entries on the site are marked with who made the entry and when the entry was made.

To avoid confusion and any manipulation of information, parents can only edit or delete entries that have created.

Because every page on the site is footnoted with the last time each parent has viewed that page, you will always know how up to date the information is.

The Expense Log allows parents to track their expense sharing. It automatically calculates each parent's share of an expense based on its type and approval status.

Messages are automatically sent to alert the parents of a new expense and its approval status.
